

ABSTRACT

A device for transmitting clock signals to a microprocessor is disclosed. The device is configured to receive a clock signal and distribute the signal synchronically to multiple output
5 sites on the device. The synchronized clock signals are transmitted from the various device sites to multiple sites on the microprocessor.

057433-012904